Anglia Ruskin University and the Cambridge Theological Federation
2 The Bounds, Westminster College, Lady Margaret Road, Cambridge, CB3 0BJ

Participants needed to take part in a research study exploring:

Practical Theology & Psychotherapy: The Lived Experience of Theological Authority and Power [reported] in Psychotherapy

Are you a psychotherapist, psychologist, counsellor or clergy (minister, priest, pastor or vicar) who has worked with clients or parishioners who have experienced 'church hurt'?

I am seeking participants to take part in a study exploring the lived experience of theological power and authority. I am interested in hearing about your work with clients/ parishioners who have presented with conflict in reference to their experience of authority and power in the church context.

Your participation will involve being interviewed for approximately one hour about your experience of such work. Once your interview has been analysed, I will verify from you the final statement captured adequately your descriptions, and represent your experience.

No information from the interview will be used to identify you or others.

If you are interested in participating and would like further information, please contact:

Sandra Mtandabari: sim116@pgr.aru.ac.uk

This research project is being undertaken as part of my Professional Doctorate studies in Practical Theology (DProf) at Anglia Ruskin University and the Cambridge Theological Federation.

The study has received ethical approval from Anglia Ruskin University